Retired Men's Social Club Employment Program For Teenagers Was Success

The Retired Men's Social Club ended its Summer Teen Employment program with high praises for the community.

The response was great, according to James C. Stevenson Sr., president of the club. And as a result, we employed more teenagers, on a part time basis, than what we had expected.

However, Mrs. Stevenson feels that the response was still a very small percentage of those persons who could have employed a teenager to assist them in cleaning and caring for their residence, businesses and other areas.

According to club records maintained by the secretary-coordinator, some 50 teenagers between the ages of 12-18 were employed on various types of jobs, including maintenance and yard work and painting fences. A few of the teens landed jobs that will offer them year around employment after school and on weekends.

Over all, the club feels that it met the first objective, which was to provide jobs and job training for those teenagers who were too young to be employed through regular employment channels, and those unable to acquire jobs because of inadequate training.

Club members feel that the response this past summer has indicated that the entire community is aware of the need for more jobs and recreational outlets for the teenagers. And they are presently planning for a more entensive program for next summer. Hopefully, more businesses and residents will participate in the employment program, Mr. Stevenson said. In addition to offering job outlets, the club also sponsored teen dances throughout the summer, a neighborhood bar-be-cue and a get-a-acquainted bar-be-cue at Steve's Barbeque Inn at 1667 Del Monte Blvd. All of the events were rated successful by the club, and the teenagers and parents participating in the events.

Funds and donation raised during the social events were used to employ teenagers in cleaning and maintaining the club facilities at 1105 Olympia, which was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson to house the teen employment staff. Others donating to the program include Abb Buckman, secretary, who donated a 300 pound hog for the bar-be-cue; gave the club a desk and chair; George Williams, a rug, bed and drapery; and several other members donated usable items to get the program off the ground.

"I am proud of each member of the club and each of the persons who employed a teenager during the summer program," said Mr. Stevenson who was instrumental in getting the 40-member club started about eitht months ago. "And I sincerely hope that the interest can and will be maintained."

Mr. Stevenson feels very strongly that the source of conflict in the American society, among all nationalities, lies in the lack of decent and adequate jobs both for adults and children. "This is where each of us on the Monterey Peninsula should channel our extra efforts ... assisting those employable persons in obtaining sufficient employment.

"My experience has indicated that it's not that people don't want to work," Mr. Stevenson concluded, "it's just that they become bored with unchallenging jobs and this si where the Retired Men's Club hopes to assist youngsters in learning good work habits, and training them for better paying jobs in tomorrow's society."

Haddad Reacts to Letter

Responding to what he termed a "sour grapes" personal attack by Monterey attorney Roger Poyner, candidate for Supervisor of the 4th District, former Seaside Mayor Lou Haddad stated that the Letter To The Editor which appeared in The Seaside POST News-Sentinel over Poyner's name allegedly raised a question concerning Poyner's sincerity and integrity.

Haddad stated that both candidates had asked for his support, and that he had deliverated six weeks before concluding that Poyner's opponent, incumbent Supervisor Loren E. Smith, "possessed the qualities which he believed absolutely essential in a publicly elected official." He termed Poyners reaction indicative of an inexperienced and immature politician.

He stated that an example of Poyner's insincerity came about during KIDD's Feedback program when Poyner appeared in answer to Haddads endorsement of Smith. A question was asked by a caller as to his position on the Marijuana Initiative which appears on the November ballot, and he fumblingly evaded the question by stating that he was unknowledgeable of the nature of the issue, Haddad said.

According to Haddad, this type of reply can only be interpreted by the electorate as an unwillingness to take a positive stand on a controversial issue which has been in the news for several months. This, in itself, smacks of insincerity, Haddad said, and is in direct contrast with Smith reputation of forthrightness and positivity.

Haddad elaborated further by saying that he believes that Poyner is being ill-advised in telling voters what they want to hear, skirting direct answers to questions concerning controversial issues, which distinctly sets him apart from his opponent.

Haddad cited one instance when Poyner met with him during a coffe gathering in Seaside shortly after the primary election where a remark was made that Poyner tool political advantage of appearing at all McGovern rallies on the Monterey Peninsula indicating his own support, but that he stated that he became miffed at McGovern's committee and voted for Hubert Humphrey.

This, in Haddads opinion, reflects upon Poyner's integrity.

"These events of the past two weeks serves to confirm to me that my decision to support Supervisor Smith as the better qualified candidate is well founded," Haddad said.

Hospital Trustees Still Oppose Complex

Because of traffic congestion, trestees of Community Hospital are still opposed to the medical office complex proposed by Carmed Associates at the top of Carmel Hill, Dr. A. Carol McKenney, president of the Board of Trustees of the hospital, said recently.

"Though we have taken no action following the supervisors' rejection of our appeal in opposition to this development, we have not changed our position. We remain opposed because of the traffic a complex of that density and nature will generate on a blind corner on the already congested Carmel-Pacific Grove highway which is our only access," Dr. McKenney said.

"We fear that ambulances bringing emergency patients on the winding road to our hospital as well as fire trucks from the adjacent State Forestry station may be impeded by the traffic popping out of a curve upon which is the exit of the existing convalescent hospital and the proposed 30 professional offices.

"We are concerned because even the casual observer can see the traffic problem. Neither state nor county officials have offered a solution and they have refused to make a requested traffic study," the hospital board president said.

Explaining why the trustees took no action at their August 31st meeting, Dr. McKenney said the appeal to the supervisors was the last recourse without going to cour and the 15-member board felt pursuing it in court would be to no avail.

"We did not protest at the time of rezoning because it was felt rezoning could lead to more compatible and judicious use of the land. Of course, it was not until the use permit application was made that we had an opportunity to see the precise plan and the access road which we viewed with alarm because of the potential hazards," he said.

The hospital objected at the time the use permit was heard by the xoining administrator and then appealed his decision.

"We are not happy about the supervisor's decision to cut the number of buildings from seven to four because that does not reduce the traffic hazard. They still plan on 30,000 square feet of office buildings on three and one-half acres which means that instead of seven smaller buildings they plan to build four larger ones. The traffic that will be generated will be the same.

"Our concern is for the prompt health care of the people of the Peninsula. To keep pace, we announced 10 years ago that we planned to build a 300 patient bed hospital by 1985. That is nearly double our present number of rooms and, of course that will generate more traffic. We felt it was necessary to point out that easy, safe access to our acute hospital is essential now and in the future and that the Carmed Associates' development may detrimentally affect our plans for growth to meet patient needs because of the traffic it will generate," Dr. McKenney said.

New Black Republican Committee Is Formed

Fred DeWitt, 33 years old, former Director in Peace Corps, Washington, now National Coordinator for the New Republican Committee, recently visited Seaside and Monterey communities.

Last Thursday evening, he announced the inauguration of the New Black Republican Committee at an impressive ceremony, held at the headquarters for the Re-Election of the President in Seaside.

In an interview with the Seaside POST News-Sentinel, Mr. DeWitt explained the goals and purposes of the new Republican Committee and why the Seaside and Monterey communities were chosen for the inaugural event. The purpose of the new Republican Party committee is to bring the voice of the little people into the Republican Party. The committee intends to increase Black participation in all phases and levels within the decision making process in local, state and national bodies.

Mr. DeWitt feels within our country we have two major political parties. "No longer can we Blacks permit one major party to be falsly considered as the party of the rich, when the rich are actively represented in both parties."

History has taught us that one or the other major political party is in administration at least every eight years. DeWitt feels that no longer can Black people afford to have eight years of no political participation. The progress of Black people must be constant and consistent. To insure progress for all people it is mandatory that during each administration the views and issues of all people be expressed and advanced.

DeWitt says this can only be done by having all people regardless of race or ethnic status actively working in both major parties. Until now, Blacks have affiliated themselves overwhelmingly with the Democratic party. Hopefully the New Republican Committee, with its new ideas and philosophies, can bring Blacks into the mainstream of political activities through two party participation in thr United States.

Aiding Mr. DeWitt in spreading the message to the Black grass roots in more than 50 communities through out the United States will be Walter Brown, prominent Seaside civil rights leader, social activist and co-author of the New Republican Committee. Mr. Brown is the western regional coordinator and will be in charge of voter registration and information for the 14 western states.

The evening was highlighted by the change of party affiliation by members of the Seaside Black Residents to the New Republican Committee and the announcement from Senator Burt Talcott's office that Mrs. Helen Short would be appointed to the Monterey County Central committee.

Survey Is Scheduled For Area

The Bureau of the Census will survey a sample of households in this area the week of September 18-22 to determine the extent people have been immunized against selected diseases, C. Michael Long, Director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Los Angeles, announced recently.

The Immunization Survey, conducted nationally every year, provides information on immunization against measles, influenza, smallpox, polio, diptheria, whooping cough, and tetanus, information needed for administration of health programs geared to disease prevention.

These health questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of the monthly Employment Survey provide data on conditions in the labor force, prime indicators of the economic health of the country. For example, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that the July survey showed the Nation's employment situation to be unchanged, with the overall unemployment rate holding at 5.5 percent and the number of employed persons remaining at the June level of 81.7 million (seasonally adjusted).

Census Bureau interviewers who will visit households in this area are: Mrs. Ann Bowman, 802 Via Maria, Salinas, CA 93901.

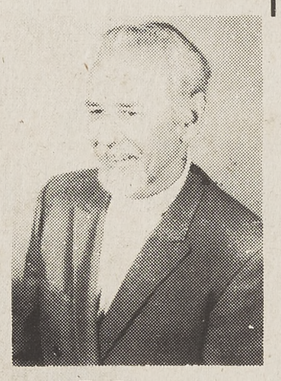
Seaside Ripples

A. E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

By Clint Porter
(In the absence of Andy Barragan)



A.E. Barragan

It's Over. Monterey can drift back to its daily routine. The Sheriff's Department can go back to what ever they were doing. The citizens of Monterey, Seaside, Del Rey Oaks and surrounding communities have our permission to return to normal.

It's Over. The money-making exploiters who follow such events will now have to await another chance. Some of them will not have another chance to take advantage of our brothers and sisters, friends and relations, or fellow businessmen. Those are the ones who systematically purchase bad seats by the pound and sell them to our friends for as high as three times the purchase price. I hope I said that correctly, that last sentence. No one can convince me that the fellows dressed so sportly with all those tickets were selling them legitimately because they were left-over un-wanteds. Oh no., you'll never convince me.

It's Over. The well-planned blocking of the streets, which isn't done at County Fair time. The boomeranging prices of the parking lots. I was a bit pleased to learn from one of the "renters" that he was losing money. Not in the sense spoken, he just wasn't making the 500 percent profit he had anticipated. Cheers.

It's Over. One of the most star-studded JAZZ FESTIVALS in recent years. This was the 15th Annual Jazz Festival here at the fairgrounds, and Jimmy Lyons has worked unceasingly to present

Politics At King Junior High

The new principal at King Junior High School in Seaside believes that, with the voting age lowered to 18, it's time junior high school students were introduced into the world of politics.

And what better way than to have candidates, or their representatives, visit classrooms in preparation for a mock election, decided Principal Billy DeBerry.

That's what's happening at King.

DeBerry said Republican Burt L. Talcott and a representative of President Nixon's re-election organization will visit his students. Julian Camacho, the Democratic challenger for Talcott's 12the Congressional District seat, sent a representative and someone representing Democratic presidential challenger George McGovern was also due on the campus.

DeBerry explained that the political visitors spoke to students taking U.S. Constitution classes. He said each candidate or representative was given equal time and opportunity to speak and answer questions to insure fairness.

Just prior to the November General Election, King students will hold their own mock election, DeBerry said.

Ventana Chapter of Sierra Club Supports Proposition

The Ventana Chapter, Sierra Club, has repeatedly demonstrated that it favors legislation to protect what remains of California's precious coast. Though much of the Monterey Peninsula shoreline has already been doomed by piecemeal development, there is much that can still be saved.

The Chapter vigorously supports Proposition 20, which will be on the ballot in November, as a last-chance move to regulate development of our coastline and save it from unrestrained exploitation.

Proposition 20 is virtually identical to the bipartisan Coastal Protection Bill introduced by Senator Donald Grunsky in the last legislature. Crunsky's bill was killed in committee by a handful of legislators responding to pressure from oil, power, land development and other special interests, despite the fact that it had the support of a majority in both houses.

The Proposition would not stop development on the coast, but wourld require permits for such developments as the 618-apartment high rise complex planned for the beaches of Sand City. A Central Coast Regional Commission, balanced 50-50 between local government and public representatives, would determine whether a proposal for development within 1,000 yards of the ocean shore might be harmful to the envirnment.

Proposition 9 on the ballot last June, would halt the present uncoordinated, piecemeal development which is causing permenent loss of irreplaceable coastal zone resources. It would give the California Legislature three years in which to develope a permanent plan to save our coast.

We join Senator Donald Grunsky and Assemblyman Robert Wood in endorsement of this plan, which we consider the most important environmental Proposition on the November ballot.

Today's Army NEWS By SSG R. Cardwell ARMY RECRUITER

Hi everybody. Again this week's Army news is geared toward the Modern Volunteer Army. All of the Mayors on the Monterey Peninsula have proclaimed the month of September as the Modern Volunteeer Army month. The MVA is less than one year from being a reality. To make the public aware of this fact and to help insure the ultimate success is the purpose of the City Mayors' proclamation.

A volunteer Army has been under consideration since late 1968. Current draft legislation expires June 30, 1973 and, unless changed by an Act of Congress, the United States must relay on a totally volunteer force by that date. Department of Defense plans call for the Army to be reduced to a force of 861,000 troops, down from a peak of 1,570,000 in late 1968 and early 1969. The Army has had to address itself to many areas of change and improvement to meet the challenge of a volunteer force that will attract highly motivated and dedicated high school graduates. Foremost among these was a wage increase to $288 per month for enlisted personnel, that became effective January 1st of this year. When added to the Army's other well-known extras-food, 30 day paid vacation, clothing, housing, medical and dental coverage, educational opportunity--the Army's position as a viable employer in today's job market is greatly strenthened.

With the Army reducing its size, increased emphasis is placed on building a high quality, professionally motivated force that will be the finest Army this country has ever known.

Great stress is being given to matching Army responsibilities to a man's skills and qualifications. Young men and women joining today's Army are more rigorously tested to identify their best career aptitudes and interests. Army physical and mental entrance standards have also been raised. The Army is also putting greater emphasis on the maintenance of educational excellence. In accomplishing this, the Army is emphasizing the enlistment of high school graduates. Enlistments this year clearly indicate a continuing rise in graduate enlistments over previous years. Qualified-non-high school graduates are urged to complete their high school education through Army administered courses and tests. Most importantly, the Modern Volunteer Army hopes to set aside working time during the week for personnel to perfect their vocational or baccaluareate skills.

With increased emphasis on quality prospects, improved professionalism and more demanding individual training requirements, Military benefits that are unmatched in the civilian job market.

For more information concerning the U.S. Army, please contact us 431 Webster Street, Monterey, or call 372-4742/372-0553.

Soldiers Learn About Landscaping

The chance to landscape and make the areas around buildings, barracks or homes more attractive has been made available to Fort Ord personnel through a Self-Help Landscaping Program.

Established by the Directorate of Facilities and Engineering (DFAE), the plan is such that each command unit, organization, family council or individual is eligible to participate.

According to program director, Jack Massera, the plan basically covers, "what the residents of Ft. Ord feel they can do to further landscape their personal living area or the post's general area. Along with this, recommendations and suggestions by the DFAE will be made on worthwhile projects which include wind breaks, landscaping of ball fields and overall beautification of unsightly areas on post."

Brigades, major command units and family council representatives have been asked to submit suggestions on how best to enhance the areas where they work and live.

After the plans are submitted through DFAE channels they are checkd for compatibility with weather conditions, surrounding vegatation, and future maintenance requirements. If the requirements are met, and an inspection by the grounds section is approved, the material is then ordered.

Those requesting the plants will be notified when they arrive and will be given instructions for planting and maintenance. It should be noted that the responsibility of the maintenance for the plants and areas are those of the occupants.

Projects are already underway with the 14th Engineer Battalion removing debris in support of the Hayes Park Council in developing the old Ord Village area. Also shelping to get the program started were Girl Scouts from the Monterey Bay Area Council landscaping around the Silas B. Hays Army Hospital.

"Nurmerous requests have been received by the DFAE and as soon as the plants arrive, landscaping for those involved will begin," explained Jack Massera.

Persons with suggestions or ideas for beautification should talk to their supervisor, council representatives, or call cil representatives, or call DFAE at 3379.

Awarded Distinguished Flying Cross

A 22-year old soldier, who served as door gunner on a utility helicopter in Vietnam, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Specialist Five Lawrence Burbridge of Palmer, Massachusetts, and currently assigned to the Directorate of Plans and Training Aviation Division, earned the award for "actions beyond the call of duty" on December 19, 1971 in the Republic of Vietnam.

His helicopter had been involved in the emergency extraction of a long-range reconnaisance team deep in enemy-held territory. A 200-foot hover hole had been cut in the dense jungle. As Burbridge's chopper approached the "hole", heavy fog and tropical rain closed in the area causing the pilot to us IFR (Insight Flight Rule).

The young soldier opened his door and verbally helped clear the helicopter down through the roughly prepared hole in the jungle. When the ship was low enough, he helped lower the extraction ladder. On the upward flight he agin guided the pilot through the opening until the chopper reached tree level when the enemy opened with heavy fire. He answered the enemy with suppressive fire from his machinegun. He continued firing even after he had been struck by at least two enemy heavy-calibre shells. Despite loss of blood and severe pain he continued firing until the chopper safely left the area.

The citation accompanying the medal read, "Such courage and breavery while under such strain, reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army."

The medal was presented to Specialist Burbridge at a ceremony held at Fritzsche Army Airfield by Brigadier General William L. Webb, Ft. Ord's deputy commanding general.

In addition to his Dintinguished Flying Cross, the Vietnam hero wears the Air Medal with eight 'V' Devices and 28 Oak-Leaf Clusters, the Army Commendation Medal with on Oak-leaf Cluster and the Purple Heart.

Navy Service Station Opens

Although the new facility has been open for business for several months, Rear Admiral Mason Freeman, Superintendent, officially celebrated the completion of the remodelling as part of the service station by cutting a ribbon at the main entrance.

The event marked the completion of a $63,000 project which encompassed the construction of two added service bays and 1,000 square feet of sales area for military personnel and their dependents on the Monterey Peninsula.

Moved from near the Navy school's Third Street entrance as construction began on the Dudley Knox Library, the service station started pumping gas and providing other service on a limited basis in September, 1970. Final building construction and supply stocking was completed last month.

The facility features three islands with 12 pumps, a business office, an accessories section and foru stalls for tune-ups and other automotive service.

Deadline for Scholarships Is Nearing

Recycling Program Is Working

"One ton of paper saves a dozen trees"! The efforts of loca local Boy Scouts troup and the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California have placed emphasis on this Navy-wide Recycling Program.

The program, in full force for six months at the Navy school, has not only saved 60 trees, but has helped keep the school and the Navy housing area at La Mesa Village letter-free.

Nate Rekosh, Maintenance Control Director of Public Works at NPS, has been supervising the program which makes the paper available to Boy Scout Troup #178 of La Mesa Village. Monterey High School student and Life Scout Eric Newton is the coordinator of the Boy Scouts who gathered five tons of paper from the Postgraudate School and La Mesa Village.

A total of $50 has been received for the recyclable paper from Richard Minor of Monterey Disposal Service. Commander R.M. Cerreta, Public Works Officer, presented the check to Eric Newton who accepted on behalf of the Scouts on September 1.

this greatest event. He calls it a "non-profit event." That is far from the truth. There may not be a profit monetarily from the festival, but the profit of meeting old friends again, both from the musician's standpoint and the over 10,000 visitors. Some of them met for the last time. Some of them met for the first time. Futures began last weekend. Futures that will prosper and grow between people. Fate walked among the crowds and touched two people who were unaware of each other previously, and they will build a future together. By the 16th Annual Festival they may have added another member to their family. This was not a "non-profit event."

It's Over. The tears of joy of memories returned when Jimmy Witherspoon sang his never-to-be-forgotten hits, like, "Ain't Nobody's Business" or "Good Rockin' Tonight" or "Past Forty Blues" or the unwanted tear of sadness when he blessed Jimmy Rusing and said his records, then sang "I Want a Little Girl." The old-timers knew what was happening, the young people felt the vibrations of joy and joined in through pure contact. I grooved with the situation.

I must mention this: For the past 5 or 6 months four young men have been traveling with Jimmy Witherspoon and working in the background as his accompaniment. Robben Ford, Guitar; Paul Nagel, Piano; Kim Baum, Drums; Stan Poplin, Bass. They look like they belong in a High School Band, or a Junior Symphony Orchestra. This is another one of those cases where looks can deceive you. These four young men can play the blues like the blues should be played. All Soul. Robben, playing guitar, can make B.B. King sound like Tiny Tim. And he's prettier. In fact I was in the Artist's Lounge listening to two fellows and two ladies making bets on whether Robben was "he" or "she." I did not want to spoil their fun. The ladies won. Of course they say they have "intuition."

It's Over. The parties that started Friday Noon and ended Monday as the first rays of sun peeped over the horizon. (Strangely enough, it was the first time the sun had risen so early. The Man knows what He is doing at all times.) Some of the parties were pretty wild. It is quite interesting to watch the sophisticated elite "get down to the old nitty-gritty." They are human too. I knew it all the time, it just surprises me each time I witness it. When you reach (Jimmy Witherspoon says) past forty, and everyone present is in the same category, there is no hesitancy in showing your age and letting your hair down, or taking it off. I was surprised at a few toupees I saw.

It's Over. For the writer in another publication who complained about the noise. It just had to be his first festival of any kind, that he has ever attended. He complained about the "assigned seats" he received. If he was a member of the press he could have gone in the Artists' Lounge and watched on close circuit T.V., or drifted to the front of the crowd, or a couple of other alternatives, one is, "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em" type of attitude and enjoyed himself. Everyone else was. And if he couldn't do that he could have let someone else cover the event.

It is just Begining. The cleanup job the City of Monterey has.

It is just Beginning. The settling down of the many thousand of travelers who made it home and are trying to readjust to normal life again. It will take time for that. It always does, after an enjoyable blowout. Some of the people will be embarrased when they remember how they were carried away in a moment of ecstacy. They will try to picture themselves through someone else's eyes. To them I have to say, do not waste your time. If you are not accepted doing your "natural thing" in front of your friends, they are not your friends anyway.

We could write a book about the Festival. I have mentioned only a wee about the performers. Others will cover it in other publications. I only hope you received the entire message Roberta Flack was trying desperately to transmit in song. You had to be listening: "How it Feels to be Free." I think the engineers could have turned her microphone up a bit. There are knobs on amplifiers.

I was over to see Andy Barragan, he's my boss, Sunday. Between touchdowns on T.V. and descriptions of the Jazz Festival from me, he enjoyed a much needed relaxed afternoon. He will be walking a mile pretty soon, if he hasn't hit that mark by publication. You would have to see it to believe it. Flip Wilson says: "What You See is What You Get." Andy says: "You Haven't Seen Anything Yet!" Bye 'Ya'll.

HEALTH PROBLEMS and delivery of HEALTH SERVICES in SEASIDE have been matters of real concern to County and Seaside City Officials for several years.

Many meetings have been held and much discussion has been listened to but no real conclusions or solutions have been reached to date.

This week I requested our County Health Director, Dr. Richard Frazier, to meet with me and officials of the City of Seaside to again review the possibilities of providing Health Services in Seaside. The results of this conference were very encouraging. MAYOR BERNARD J. DOLAN and DOCTOR FRAZIER in very candid discussion with me came to the conclusion that a system of "SATELLITE" Health Centers throughout the County in locations convenient to the people needing the medical services could probably improve the whole approach to health care for many disadvantaged people.

One of these centers even though started on a modest scale could be a real blessing to Seaside residents. County and City Officials are continuing to study the possibility of such a program and it is my firm intention to continue working diligently to see that this County Program becomes a reality.

Your Seaside Street Department

by N. Duffy

In this column we would like to introduce to you three aspects of street maintenance which are a unique part of this city's public works function; our chip-seal, street painting and weed control programs. They are unique because Seaside is the only city in this area who perfroms all these services themselves.

The life of any street is affected by weather and traffic conditions. Though the ever-continuing process of weathering, the top layer of oil and rock are worn off, allowing water to seep through the blacktop which would cause cracks to form in the street, damaging the base of the roadway. The latter effect would cause potholes, depending on the weight of the traffic crossing over it. By chip-sealing a street, any existing cracks will be sealed and the top layer of the roadway restored for a minimum length of five years, if properly done. The condition described above affects only asphalt and chip-seal streets, the major type of street the city maintains.

The process of chip seal is simple for an experienced crew. A hot layer of oil is put on the street, then 1/4 inch granite chips are spread uniformly over the oil, after which it is rolled to compress the chips into the oil. It is then allowed to "cure" for a period of a week and the excess chips are removed by our street sweepers. Last year the Street Department used 22,530 gallons of emulsion and 930 tons of chips to resurface approximately six miles of road. We realize that our chip-seal may cause a temporary inconvience to the residents and motorists on a recently treated street. We ask you to please consider its long term beneficial effects.

Street painting is one of the necessary elements of an effective traffic control and safety program. Most cities contract their painting to private concerns, whereas Seaside is able to do it's own, saving the city a substantial amount of money. The only exception is center-line striping where we are as yet, without the necessary equipment. Two men from our department, with plywood stencils in a 1952 yellow pick-up, paint all crosswals, school markings, curbing and street letterings on a semi-annual basis. Last year we used 465 gallons of white, yellow, red and green traffic paint.

If you come across our gypsy paint wagon in the middle of the street or red cones blocking traffic in a lane, please drive carefully, there are either men painting or wet paint within the cones. Wet traffic paint is very slipperty and can cause accidents if the safety cones are disregarded. Please observe these warnings for your own safety and the safety of the men working.

To remove unsightly weeds growing on the city's sidewalks and in the alleys, the Street Department conducts an annual spraying program. This program is divided into two aspects; spot spraying to kill existing weeds and the spraying of all curb and gutter in the city to prevent the growth of any vegetation.

If you have any comments or suggestions, please contact City Hall, this will help us provide better services to you.

Bob Wood Reports

Sure to be one of the more controversial propositions on the November general election ballot is the Watson Tax Limit Initiative, Proposition 14. The proposal places a limit on property taxes at 1.75 percent of the market value--$7 per $100 of assessed valuation. It specifies which levels of government may use revenues from property taxes and for all intents and purposes denies the use of property tax revenues by the State.

Basically, Proposition 14 provides for a shift in tax support away from the property tax for three major State expenditures: public schools (two-thirds of this cost to be borne by the State from revenues other than property tax), welfare, and health care.

It establishes tax ceilings of $2 per $100 of assessed valuation as a county tax rate, $2 as a city tax rate, 50¢ per $100 of assessed valuation for special districts tax, and $2 per $100 for the support of schools.

It dosen't take a fiscal expert to see that the proposal must make substitutions of revenues for those lost when its limitations go into effect. Proposition 14 provides for an increase in the State sales tax to 6 percent, and adds a local sales tax of one percent, plus other minor increases in income tax paid by insurance companies, banks and corporations. It also adds a tax on cigaretts, and levies a tax on distilled spirits.

Those opposing the initiative state that an independent legislative analysis has come up with the fact that the income from sales tax and other sources will fall at lease $400 million short of the $212 billion increase in State costs. The school's people oppose the bill because the $825 ADA support level, mandated by the Watson Initiative, would result in a state wide decrease in school support of some $771 million. The question comes up of how our legislature will cover this deficit.

However, the proponents of the bill chaim that the legislature was not able to come up with an alternative tax bill and they claim this is a step in the right direction by the fact that it definitely does shift the property tax load by shifting it principally to a method of sales tax. This is a people's initiative, and you folks will have to make the desision come November.

Is It Best?

There are a good many people who don't think "The Star Spangled Banner" is an ideal national anthem.

With its bombs bursting in air, its rockets' red glare, it is too militaristic, some say. Others decry it because its music is that of an old British drinking song memorializing a Greek poet.

Some think "America" would be a better anthem. Others ven vote for "God Bless America."

But on the 158th anniversary of its writing by Francis Scott Key that long ago September 14th, the old song still stirs men's hearts and spirits. It is difficult to sing, but those notes well played do something to the emotions. And its last words should be an inspiration:

"The land of the free and the home of the brave." Will the United States ever be that.

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE

Ronald Reagan may be a little shook up about his old movies, but Richard Nixon's declaration of war on the use of re-runs on TV is bound to get him a lot of votes. Maybe not as many as the two million teamster votes he probably got by intervening in Jimmy Hoffa's prison sentence, but the possibilities are unlimited. Even I, who have not beem particularly impressed by Mr. Nixon since the incident that got him the "Tricky Dick" description about twenty years ago, must admit he really has a great idea.

The idea is that if re-runs take the place of brand new shows, and therefore cut down on employment in the TV filming business, the President's opposition to ru-runs should get every vote in that industry. I think he should carry the thing even further. Since I am employed in the building construction industry it seems like a great idea to me to have our President oppose long-term use of buildings. Just imagine what it would do for the construction industry if new buildings could be used for only one month or better yet for only a week and then had to be discarded. This great principle could also be applied to automobiles, refrigerators and kitchen mixers. I don't know if Mr. Woodcock would go for it, but I expect George Meany would immediately become vitally interested in Mr. Nixon's reelection.

How unfortunate that McGovern didn't think of it first. The sheer genius of the idea is overwhelming. The wage-price controls Mr. Nixon imposed became a bit unpopular as it became evident that they were not only unworkable but never really intended to do anything but cloud the issues, but before things got to sticky the President comes out like a rose by actually proposing an extension of controls with the TV re-run Gimmick.

So, the Democrats are in bad shape. They not only got off on the wrong foot be being opposed, most of them anyway, to the war in Vietnam which is vitally important to more voters than we'd like to believe, but they also just don't have the genius necessary to play the American people like a master pianist plays a piano.

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels was one of the greatest in that field, and nobody even came close to his genius until the Republican national convention, but then he did not have television as a media, so the comparison is a bit unfair to him.

Anyway, Mr. Nixon's idea, extended to other fields, should do wonders for employment. Imagine the joy a fisherman experience, having to throw away his rod and reel after using it just once, knowing that someplace, probably in Japan, someone would get employment building him another rod and reel for his next fishing trip.

Letter to the Editor

Editor: For several months now, I have been here in my home looking out at our little world of Seaside. It is beautiful with people of many nationalities. I have met so many nice people right here in Seaside. I feel we are on the way to better things, dear neighbor.

We are Senior Citizens in Ord Terrace.

"Why askest thou me? Ask them which heard me, what I have said unto them; behold they know what I said." St. John 18:21

One Who Loves All people

Editor: How will Seaside's little neighbor - Marina - be when almost three decades pass and the 21st century comes into view? Villages like children have a "habit" of growing up! How will the Marina of broad shoulders look?

Share with me the vision: It will be a beautiful community of over 50,000 by then. Several inhabited areas, including a large part of Ft. Ord, will be part of it. Flowers will be everywhere - the air fragrant.

Its glorious border, of miles of the Pacific, will contain several of the finest of beaches - quiet, clean, scenic beyong comparison. Attractive wharfs and breakwaters, boating, fishing and safe swimming will make Marina a haven for relaxing recreation.

Marina's street will all be tree-lined and sidewalks will be alongside each street. Special bike paths fenced off from streets and sidewalks, will be everywhere. Speical shuffle-board courts will help old folks have fun.

Marina will have a truly magnificient shopping mall. Marina will have a cheerful "downtown" business section that will be widely admired. Drinking fountains, public washrooms, benches - all conveniences necessary in civilized living - will be ample. Marina will not be drab, ugly, a so-so town!

Motels, homes, playgrounds, small parks, recreation halls, schools, library, apartment buildings will be designed for beauty in color, shape and convenience, to make Marina a delightful surprise to a visitor.

Marina will have a nicely landscaped public square, surrounded by public buildings that are uniquely beautiful. Marina will be well lighted at night. Its area will be well patroled, so it is the safest place to live in the country. It will be quite, clean. It will maintain strict standards.

I have faith that there are enough residents with concern, courage, enthusiasm and vision in our community. These resourceful souls are Marina's greatest asset. They will make the dream of a glorious Marina-by-the-blue-Pacific come true. California needs such another jewel in its crown.

Sincerely yours,
George Herman,
Marina

Call For Information About Moving

United Van Lines, Inc., has created the moving industry's first Wide Area Telephone (WATS) system allowing persons to call toll free for information concerning an impending move. The Consumer Information Service became operational on September 11.

Edward M. Cummins, vice president-sales and marketing, said that the new service is designed to "substantially shorten the number of days between the time a person seeks specific moving information and receives it."

The program, a part of United Van Lines' Bette Malone Moving Consultant Service, will permit persons from any place in the country to call United's World Headquarters free to request any of the many Bette Malone moving booklets or information on nearly 9000 cities, states and foreign countries.

In the past, thousands of persons have written to Bette Malone for specific moving information. Even though all requests were processed by Miss Malone's staff within 48 hours of receipt, mail deliveries often resulted in up to a 10-day delay between the time the request was made and the time information was received.

"With the new service, our personnel will receive a request by telephone, fill it within 24 hours and the person requiring the information should have it in two or three days," Miss Malone said.

Miss Malone and her staff have filled more than 55,000 requests for information in the past 24 months, she explained.

"The Consumer Information Service represents a giant step toward maintaining the personal contact that is so important to completing a successful move" Mr. Cummins declared. "Moving, particulary the first time, is not always as easy as ABC.

"This system puts the homemaker - and it is she who usually must attend to the many details of moving her family - just one telephone call away from obtaining detailed information about her new surroundings; the churches and schools, playgrounds and tax rates. She is now just one telephone call away from receiving Bette Maline's 'Pre-Planned Moving' guide, which tells her exactly how to plan her move. Perhaps most important, the service gives her someone knowledgeable within our organization to talk to, to start the wheels in motion to get her the answers quickly."

Mr. Cummins said the Consumer Information Service is "definitely not sesigned to be a 'vice president in charge of my transmission just went out," such as some automobile manufacturers have established. This program is a positive consumer service - pure and simple," he declared.

Persons manning the inbound WATS lines have been trained in every aspect of United's domestic and international business. Using specially designed forms, they can direct inquiries to any department within the company for response.

"We view this service as one which will be of great help to the moving public," Mr. Cummins said. "More than 42,000,000 Americans will move before 1972 comes to an end and the Consumer Information Service is aimed at helping make their moves go smoothly. It provides a quick, easy way to obtain whatever information a person wants to know about a household goods move."

Persons living in states other than Missouri, may call the Consumer Information Service by dialing 800-325-3870. Missouri residents should call collect, 314-326-3100.

Unived Van Lines, with World Headquarters at #1 United Drive, Fenton, Mo., at St Louis suburb, has more than 800 franchised representatives throughout the world. They conduct hundreds of thousands of household goods, electronic and display moves annually.

Seaside Cobras Win Opener

The Seaside Cobras, the peninsula's only Jr. Bantom Football League Team, opened up their season with a 14-0 win over the Sea Hawks of San Francisco.

The offense was led by Benjamin Garner and Pat Adolpe with runs of 43 and 55 yards. Also pulling guards, Harry Relf and LeCharles McDaniels, did a tremendous job on blocking. There is still a battle between Robert Gallego and Don Hodson for starting quarterback duties.

Coach George Solomon, who is the Recreation Director for Young Adults for Action, who sponsors both the Seaside Cobras and the Seaside Apaches, said that although the offense looks good, they will have to do a lot more work when they play the San Francisco Mariners this Saturday at King Jr. High School at 2 p.m.

Educators Endorse Grunsky

The Association For Better Citizenship, a statewide political involvement organization composed of more than 120,000 educators, has announced its' full support for the reelection of State Senator Donald L. Grunsky, R-Centeral Coast Counties.

Winston W. Nelson, of Salinas, Chairman of the Federal Legislation Committee of the California Teachers Association, and an ABC Director, said, "The ABC, the political involvement arm of CTA, is pleased to publicly support Senator Grunsky for his fine legislative work in support of education."

"In ABC we are working to recognize those individuals who have, over the years, demonstrated themselves to be true friends of education. Senator Grunsky has established an outstanding record and is deserving of our support," Nelson said.

Bill Rogers, of Santa Cruz, a CTA consultant, added that Senator Grunsky had earned the support of teaachers "by always being a strong voice in their support when the chips were down."

Rogers also said, "CTA and ABC have found Senator Grunsky to be a friend because of his continuing public support and encouragement of teachers membership in professional organizations."

Nelson, in pointing to Senator Grunsky as a recognized State leader in the field of education, explained that during the years of 1965 through 1969, as chairman of the Senate Fact Finding Committee On Education, Senator Grunsky had the responsibility of research and development of legislative policy for education.

Nelson added that Senator Grunsky supervised the revision of the States' Education Code and was a principal architect of California's Master Plan For Higher Education.

Senator Grunsky is a member of the Joint Committee on Educational Goals and Evaluation and remains a member of the Senate Education Committee to which he was assigned in 1953 following his election to the Senate in November of 1952.

Rogers said Senator Grunsky continues to provide strong leadership in the areas of teacher credentialing, curriculum, tenure, textbook adoption, technical and vocational education, compensatory and preschool education, and school finance.

Talcott Explains Vote on Labor, HEW Bill

"The report regarding the Labor, HEW appropriations bill, attributed to me, is flagrantly misrepresentative. It is obviously politically motivated and obscures the basic reason for the vote of the Labor, HEW appropriations bill. The original statement was published by Mr. Sweetland who is an employee of NEA in Burlingame, California, and circulated by political partisans in our district.

"Mr. Sweetland called me by telephone to importune me to change my vote on the labor, Health, Education, and Welfare Appropriations bill for fiscal year 1973, which was $30.5 billion, at least $1.8 billion above the budget and an increase of $3.1 billion over fiscal year 1972.

"I voted 'no.' The President vetoed the bill and the House sustained the President's veto.

"My vote and the President's veto was not predicated on the education appropriation included in this bill. I have always recognized education to be our most important unmet domestic goal. My record in support of education is clear. I have particularly supported educational programs which are special to our district - impact aid, bilingual and migratory aid, and vocational training, among others.

"This issue was not 'education;' the issue is exessive federal spending particularly in new untried and uncontrolled social service. The issues are inflation, increases in the cost of living, the necessity of new taxes, and 'budget busting.' This kind of deficit spending, budget busting and openended appropriations can only lead to more inflation or new taxes, or both. Wasteful governmental spending must be slowed. I was constrained to vote against these extraordinary increases - on behalf of all of my constituents, all taxpayers including those now dependent upon federal funds for education.

"The revised bill will not prejudice education.

"The attack on me was not to advance the cause of education but was strictly political. Those who claimed my vote was against 'impact aid' are simply ignorant of the federal appropriation process and totally unfamiliar with my record of support for 'impact aid.'

"The reference to my son now serving in Vietnam was grossly misleading. I asked Mr. Sweetland where he would cut the budget to make up for overrunning the budget, particularly for the burgeoning social services. He said, 'National defense.' I said, 'We cannot shirk our responsibility to maintain an adequate defense.' He said 'End the war.' I said, 'Let's be sensible. I suppose I want to end the was as much as any member of Congress because my son in over there, but it is irresponsible to simply scream 'cut National defense' or 'end the war' to make up for budget busting in other areas. We must be careful with every federal dollar. Special interest groups must recognize the importance of other national priorities.'

"I said, 'Many persons directly involved with education in our district, are not satisfied with the present system of federal aid to education. The present system of categorical grants is too restrictive - there is too much red tape - and furthermore the grants are made too late for the local school districts to prepare their budgets properly.'

"My proposals for 'revenue sharing for educational purposes' - to get more federal income tax revenues to local school districts, with no controls or red-tape, in time to meet school budgets - would be a major improvement. Mr. Sweetland agreed."

Talk Is Scheduled

Jack J. Dreiman, president of the 11,300 member California Society of Certified Public Accounts, will visit this area on September 26 to speak to the Society's San Jose Chapter.

Drieman's talk, scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Los Gatos Lodge, Los Gatos, will highlight key issues of concern to the accounting profession and the members of the California Society. He will speak on topics covering education and experience requirements for the CPA certificate, and required continuing education as a condition for renewal of the CPA certificate. His remarks will also include comments on the Society's public relations activity of cooperative programs with California bankers, legislators, urban action agencies, educators, students and the general public.

Mr. Drieman, regional partner of the San Francisco office of Main Lafrentz & Co., graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and earned his California CPA certificate in 1950. He has served the accounting profession in numerous capacities including past service as first vice president and treasurer of the California Society and as the vice president and president of the East Bay Chapter.

Book Will Help Plan Retirement

Finding out "where you are" financially and "where you want to go" is the first step in sound planning for enjoyable retirement years, according to a free "Money Management Guide" published by Action for Independent Maturity (AIM), a division of the four-million-member American Association of Retired Persons.

Designed for people in the 50-plus age bracket, the Guide provides charts to help you determine present resources and project retirement income needs--an estimated 70 percent of your current after-tax income.

"Quite often, people in mid-career tend to think of their finances almost entirely in terms of wages and salary and overlook the financial assets they can build up to provide retirement income," the Guide notes.

Prepared by financial experts for AIM, the booklet outlines six different potential sources of funds for leisure years, including Social Security, private pensions plans, annuities, "savings payout" plans, stocks and bonds and real estate investments.

The 30-page Guide offers tips on how to manage each income source to insure maximum benefits. For instance, a "joint-and-survivor" policy is necessary for those who want annunity payments to continue to a widowed spouse.

Information on housing and apartment living is also included to help you determine a retirement lifestyle. "Renters usually need 20 percent more income than mortgage-free homeowners," the Guide concludes.

The "Money Management Guide" is one of a series of retirement preparation booklets offered by AIM to help pre-retirees enjoy present years and plan for retirement living.

Persons between the ages of 50 and 65 are eligible for membership in AIM.

For a free copy of the booklet, write: Money Management Guide, AIM, 1225 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Little League Elects New Board

The Marina Little League elected new officers for the 1973 season.

Elected to the board were: Mike Brown-president; Mike Sumpton-senior vice-president; Carmen Guidar-major vice-president; Steve Carillo-minor vice-president; Judy Chamberlain-secretary; Dick Pegnillo-treasurer; Nancy Carter-player agent.

At the meeting, the board announced that last season was very successful thanks to the sponsors and all that helped. More than 250 boys participated in the program.

Children's Theatre Class Beginning

A Children's Theatre Arts Workshop will begin at Monterey Peninsula College on October 7, with classes scheduled to meet each Saturday for 18 consecutive weeks.

The workshop is for children seven to 13 years of age, and it will e taught by C. Del Goodwin of Monterey. Goodwin has taught extra-curricular children's drama classes at Carmel Woods School, and he led a late summer drama program for children at MPC this year.

The emphasis of the workshop is on fun, according to Goodwin. It will utilize drama as an approach to creative expression. "The experience is the most important thing," says Goodwin, "not the final product."

Classes will meet on Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. The fee for attending the workshop is $25, or $0 for two children from the same family. Enrollment will be limited to 30 children. In order to register, parents should contact MPC Community Services, 375-9821, ext. 335.

Participants in the workshop will study pantomine, serious drama, comedy, dance music, sets, costumes and other aspects of the theatre. Specialists in different theatre areas will also participate in the workshop.

NOW APPEARING - Lynne Kelley, versatile singer-guitarist with recent appearances at Fairmont and St. Francis in San Francisco, Marriott in Berkeley and Dock Restaurant in Tiburon, is current headliner at Holiday Inn of Monterey. Miss Kelley will entertain in Capn's Hook Lounge Tuesday through Sunday nights from 8:30 to 1 a.m., until October 1.

Ford, Mercury, Lincoln

Dealers To Guarantee Auto Repairs

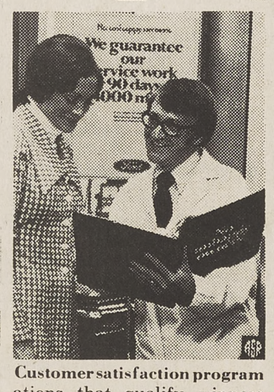
Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers will guarantee the quality of their repairs on all Ford-built cars and light trucks as part of a major customer satisfaction program announced this month by Ford Motor Company.

Local dealers taking part in the program will provide a quality guarantee of 90-days or 4,000-miles on their service work for owners of Ford, Mercury and Lincoln cars and Ford light trucks, regardless of a vehicle's age. If a repair or parts replacement fails within that period, dealers will perform necessary repairs (parts and labor) free of charge.

The quality guarantee is one of several service improvements being introduced by Ford Customer Service Division and area dealers this fall. Described by Ford as "the most extensive service program of its kind in automotive history," it includes a million-dollar incentive plan for dealership service employes that lets local customers rate service quality, a certified training program for technicians and a toll-free telephone directory service for customers who want Ford assistance.

The first nationwide plan to reward service employes for quality workmanship, Ford's "Service All-Star" incentive program offers awards totaling more than a million dollars each year to mechanics and service advisors who "score high" in satisfying customers. Local residents help determine winners by grading technicians on "report cards" each time they visit their dealer for service work.

To help dealers and their technicians provide quality repair service, Ford also has launched a Certified Training Program that gives dealership service employes the latest technical repair information from Detroit almost day-to-day. Year-round training includes monthly examinations that qualify winners for 26,000 prizes worth more than $250,000. The program supplements classroom instruction offered at 39 Ford service schools across the country.



Customer satisfaction program

In addition, Ford Customer Service Division annually will award a Distinguished Service Citation to Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers with high customer satisfaction rates and efficiently run service departments.

Ford Customer Service Division last year opened offices in 34 major cities across the country to assist dealers and their customers with service problems. As part of its new program, the division this fall will provide a national toll-free telephone directory service to give Ford, Mercury and Lincoln owners the address of the Ford service office nearest their homes. The toll-free, long-distance number is 800-243-6000. (In Connecticut, the number is 1-800-882-6500.)

Seaside Day Care Center Gets Gift

The Monterey Peninsual Volunteer members voted at their regular meeting last week to give to Seaside's Infant Day Care Center at St. Matthias Church the sum of $850. This is to provide two scholarships for the remainder of the year.

Auto Repair Fraud to Be Discussed

The Salinas library is sponsoring a program on "The Car Repair Mess and What Consumers Can Do About It?" The State of California Department of Consumer Affairs has long been aware of this particular problem and now is ready to help the consumer.

The Salinas Public Library has invited Mr. Drobny, Deputy Director of the Department of Consumer Affairs from Sacramento, to talk on this topic to the community. The Department of Consumer Affairs and others know that not all garages and repairmen create problems for the public, but past experience point to the need for improvement and to make sure that the public has recourse to remedy when needed.

Mr. Drobny will speak on Thursday, September 21, at 7:45 p.m. at the City Hall Rotunda. There will be a question period after the formal presentation. The program, as all library sponsored programs, are free and open to the public.

Be Sure to Tell DMV of Car Sale

A man who sold car three years ago was recently sued because the car was involved in an accident and Department of Motor Vehicles records showed him as the last known owner. He had never filed a transfer of ownership form with DMV.

"The situation is fairly common," says DMV Director Robert Cozens. "Many people who sign over the pink slip (certificate of ownership) in a person-to-person (non-dealer) vehicle sale don't realize that they are still the legal owner of the vehicle until they notify DMV otherwise, if the buyer fails to do so."

Many a buyer doesn't bother. He shies away from paying the use tax or transfer fee, or just forgets. And the seller who assumes that the buyer took the signed pink slip to DMV right away can end up in trouble several months -- or years -- later.

"Unless the seller can show, through having on file a notice of transfer of ownership form (form Reg. 138), that he sold the car, he is legally responsible for the vehicle," says Cozens. "The car may be ticketed for parking violations. It may be abandoned, or involved in a crash. A police department or insurance company will trace the vehicle through DMV's computer. It will show the last owner of record."

In 1970 and 1971 DMV sent out a Reg. form 138 in every renewal notice envelope. Both times more than 100,000 former owners of vehicles mailed the forms back, showing that another owner now had possession of the vehicle.

HAM SLICES COOKED WITH ONIONS

SAUTE HAM slices with onions, then serve with a seeet-sour sauce for a full-flavored dish.

2 tablespoons butter;
1/2 cup sliced onions;
3/4 pound slice on ham;
1/3 cup guava or currant jelly;
1 tablespoon prepared mustard;
2 tablespoons butter;
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves.

Melt two tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Saute the sliced onions in the butter until lightly browned. Place the ham on top of the onions. Saute it slowly, turning once until tender and browned. If needed, add more butter to the pan. To make sauce, melt and blend over heat the guava or currant jelly, mustard, butter and ground cloves. Place the ham on a hot platter. Surrount it with onions and pour the sauce over it. Makes two servings.

Good Advice From Marina Fire Department

The Marina Fire Department gives this advice to all residents, as it may save your life or the lives of your loved ones. In view of the fact that numerous cases of asphyxiation have been caused by faulty heating systems, check the following items as soon as possible:

* Things to Look for on Gas Fired Wall Heaters:

1. Soot on the floor in front of heater.
2. Noisy ignition
3. House does not heat as fast as it once did.

* If these symptoms exist, that heater may be out of adjustment or dirty.

* Things to look for on Gas Fired Central Heating Furnaces:

1. House does not heat as fast as it once did.
2. Air from heat registers seem less than normal.
3. Burner goes on and off furing heating period.

* If these symptoms exist, they could be caused by dirty filters, faulty heat exchanger, fan control out of adjustment, or buner control out of adjustment.

What to Do:

First, vacuum and clean the heater and heater room. Clean or replace dirty filters.

Second, call a heater repairman. It may cost a little, but don't gamble with your life, you can't afford to lose.

Always maintain your heater in a good clean working order and it will save you money and possibly your life.

Throughout the months when heating systems are not being used, they accumulate lint and dust. When the weather necessitates using the heater again, there is a great possibility this lint will ignite, filling the house with smoke.

Contest For Scouts Is Announced

Communication in our society is getting more and more basic for Citizenship. The Improved Scouting Program recognizes that it is not enough to have a good idea. A citizen must be capable of expressing his thoughts and ideas to others.

Readers Digest and Scouting have joined in conducting a nation-wide Public Speaking Contest, according to William Codiga, well known Watsonville attorney and chairman for the Monterey Bay Area Council Public Speaking Contest.

Contestants must prepare and then give before a panel of judges a five to seven minute speech on some phase of citizenship.

The national winner will earn a scholarship of $3,000. Eleven other scholarships will be awarded. They range from $300 to $2,000 in value.

The council-wide contest will begin at 2 p.m. on Sunday, September 24th. It will be held at the Scout Service Center at 55 San Joaquin St. in Salinas.

The winner will participate in a sectional contest on October 14th. The sectional winner will compete in the Regional Contest on November 15th. The final contest will be in February of 1973 at Washington D.C.

Scouts who have reached their 15th but not 18th birthday by February 1, 1973 and Explorers who have reached their 15th but not 20th birthday by February 1, 1973 are eligible to participate. Applications can be secured from Mr. Russell at the Scout Service Center.

SEAGRAM DISTILLERS COMPANY, N.Y.C. AMERICAN WHISKEY—A BLEND. 86 PROOF.

What PG&E is doing to keep you from running out of gas.

For years, natural gas has been an abundant, economical fuel and the major source of clean energy in this area. However, gas reserves are diminishing and the price is going up.

In some parts of the nation there are natural gas shortages already. Not so here, now. Our residential, commercial and standard rate industrial customers need not be concerned at this time about our capability to serve their requirements.

However, we may have to curtail the gas service of our lower rate "interruptible" industrial customers during cold spells this coming winter season in order to meet the public's heating requirements.

Faced with the growing gas supply problem, here's what we're doing:

1. Participating financially in gas exploratory projects in the Rocky Mountains, Canada and Alaska.
2. Encouraging California suppliers to find new fields within the state.
3. Studying the potential of synthetic natural gas and the import of liquefied natural gas from other continents.
4. Contributing $335,000 per year for four years to industry-wide research on gasification of coal.
5. Investigating coal reserves in the United States and Canada suitable for gasification.
6. Planning and building nuclear-fueled power plants which do not use gas or oil as fuel.

It all boils down to this: The era of abundant, low-cost natural gas in this nation has ended. The cost of gas has been rising. New gas supplies will be more difficult to obtain and probably will come from more distant places, hence will be even more costly. Inevitably, our rates will have to reflect these rising costs. We urge all our customers to make prudent use of this natural resource. PG and E

NOTICE OF FILING APPLICATION FOR INCREASES FOR INTRASTATE TELEPHONE RATES

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company on September 15, 1972, filed with the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California an application for authority to increase certain intrastate rates and charges applicable to telephone service furnished within the state of California. In general terms, the proposed increases are as follows:

Basic exchange rates would be increased for both residence and business telephone service. For residence the monthly increase would be from $1.05 to $1.70 per main telephone, except for one-party 30 message service, where an increase of $.75 is proposed with no change in the message allowance. An increase from $1.95 to $6.00 is proposed per main business telephone. Foreign exchange service rates and PBX trunk rates would be increased generally in the same proportion as main station rates.

The message unit charge for multi-message unit messages would be increased from $.045 to $.06 per unit. Foreign exchange service message unit charges would increase from $.05 to $.06.

It is proposed to introduce a new timing measurement plan for exchange messages placed from message rate telephones. The local message charge would be one exchange message unit, $.06, for each five minutes of usage.

For intrastate message toll telephone service, it is proposed to introduce a one minute initial perios day schedule for customer dialed calls. Increases are proposed in operator handled station and person rates. A separate schedule will be established for coin calls.

Wide Area Telephone Service rates would be changed and separate schedules would be established for inward and outward service.

Service connection charges would increase for new and additional service, moves of customer's telephone sets, certain changes of customer's sets and key telephone system services, and in place connection charges. The charge for initial connection of a residence telephone would be increased from $15.00 to $25.00. The business charge would increase from $25.00 to $35.00.

Private Line rates and charges would be increased and the existing 5% surcharge discontinued.

Certain rates and charges would be increased for COM PAK, Multiple Line Key Cabinet and Key Cabinet Service.

Private Branch Exchange and Emergency Reporting Telephone Service rates would be increased for attendant positions and also for order receiving equipment.

CENTREX and Airport Intercommunicating Service rates would be increased.

Telephone Answering Service cord operated position rates would be increased.

Increases are proposed for Optional Residence Telephone Service.

It is proposed to introduce a plan to selectively eliminate certain message unit and toll routes in order to create more uniform local calling areas.

Certain miscellaneous and supplemental equipment rates would be increased.

The rates proposed in the full application are estimated to produce additional annual gross revenue of $328,000,000 above present rate levels.

As part of its full application the company seeks interim rates, which it requests be put in effect subject to refund, as soon as possible and before hearings are completed on the full application. In general terms, the proposed interim increases are as follows:

Residence basic rate increases would be $.95 to $1.05 per main telephone per month except for one-party 30 message service which would increase $.45 with no change in the message allowance.

Business basic rate increases would range from $1.10 to $1.65 per main telephone.

Message unit and exchange message charges for measured service would be increased from $.045 to $.049 (other than froeign exchange and coin).

Key equipment station rates and installation charges would be changed for COM PAK services.

The interim rates proposed are estimated to produce additional annual gross revenue of $103,300,000 above present rate levels.

Hearings on the full application and hearings on the interim increases will be set at a later date. Notice of such hearings will be published not less than five nor more than thirty days prior to the initial hearing.

The Company's proposed rates would become effective in various California ocunties and municipal corporations, including the County of Monterey and the Cities of Seaside, Sand City, upon grant of authority therefore by the California Public Utilities Commission.

A copy of the application may be inspected by any interested person in the office of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company at 787 Munras Avenue, Monterey, California and in the offices of the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California, Fifth Floor, State Building, Civic Center, San Francisco, California, and State Building, 107 South Broadway, Los Angeles, Califonia.

Navy Reserve Is Recruiting Veterans

An all out effort is being waged by recruiters of the U.S. Naval Reserve Center in Monterey to recruit in to the ranks of the Naval Reserve veterans of all services.

The enticements are short hours, pay increases (some of which still are under consideration by congress), changes for advancement, an opportunity for summertime service with fleet or shore-based units on the west coast, and a nest egg for retirement.

According to Signalman First Class Robert D. Stoker, one of the reserve recruiters on full time duty at the reserve center, there is room in the ranks for veterans of all branches of the military service. Men with a variety of skills are needed, though the reserve contingent's prime mission is minesweeping.

Present complement of the reserve center is 23 officers and 152 enlisted men. They drill for one weekend a month - for which they receive four days pay. Unit members are flown to Seattle, San Francisco, Long Beach, or San Diego individually for their two-week tours of summer duty with units afloat or ashore.

To be elegible, ex-servicemen must be able to complete 20 years' reserve duty before their 60th birthday; credit for prior service in any of the armed forces in given.

In addition to drill pay, reserve members also have navy exchange privileges, insurance, and other benefits, Stoker said. The other full-time member of the recruiting team is Chief Edward J. Alves.

Interested veterans may visit the center locate adjacent to the Coast Guard Rescur Station at 100 Lighthouse Ave., Monterey or may reach Stoker by telephone 375-3633 or 372-0528.

A's Open Final Homestand

With the Western Division championship hanging in the balance, the A's returned to the Oakland Coliseum last Friday to open their final homestand of the season. In a three game series, the A's swept the Texas Rangers to increase their lead to five games.

The A's meet the Chicago White Sox in a pair of weeknight showdown games on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 19 and 20. The A's and White Sox recently split a two-game series in Chicago and either team would have to sweep this upcoming series to gain any ground on the other one.

The Kansas City Royals come to the Coliseum for a four game weekend series September 22-24 that includes the A's final doubleheader of the year on Sunday, September 24.

The A's will close out the 1972 regular home season against the same team that they began it with, as the Minnesota Twins come to Oakland for three weeknight games against the A's on September 25-27. The 8 game on Monday, September 25 will be the final Family Night of the year, as every seat in the Coliseum will sell for half price.
